MONTH ENDING

Alas, it is time, finally, to say goodbye. When we look back, we see our friends and family, but most importantly, we see our beloved teachers. You helped us through good and bad, never giving up on us—even though we didn't always do the homework. You encouraged us when we failed, nagged us to throw out the gum, reminded us to keep quiet in class. You set us straight when you found us cutting in the halls. You praised us for our excellence. You exhorted us to do our best.

Although we may not show it, we do appreciate your caring and understanding. And so, we would like to say thanks for being there!

FACULTY

Patricia Kobetts,
Principal

Throughout history men have pondered and anticipated that which will or may come to be. Philosophy has always discussed that which ought to be as opposed to that which is. Dreamers and men of vision such as John F. Kennedy, Martin Luther King, Jonas Salk and Mother Teresa actualized their dream through hard work and have left a legacy to the world which represents extraordinary beauty and a commitment to leaving the world a better place than that which they found.

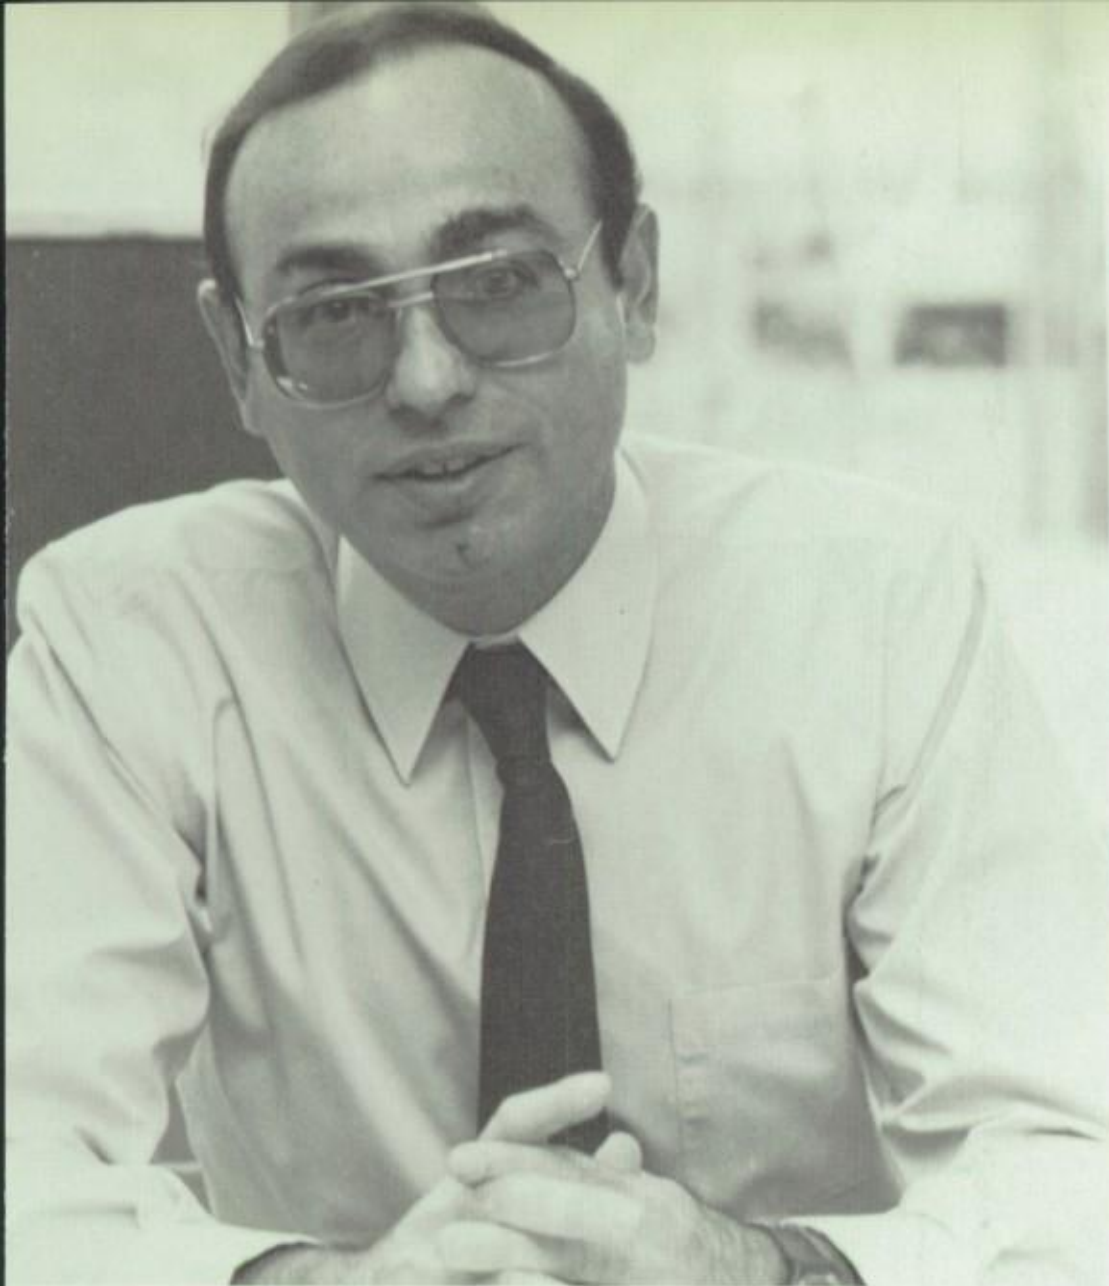

You have chosen as the theme for your Yearbook "Visions '86". Between the pages of this Yearbook is the story of your recent past. Your editors have succeeded in capturing your class history and "freezing" this wonderful package of memories and visions for eternity. You will be the editors of your own next yearbook. Dream big and make it as good as this one.

Soon you will be more on your own than ever before. Whether it is the business world or college, more will be expected of you as an individual than in the past and less help will be given to you. For this new journey into the future you will need the qualities of sensitivity to the needs of others, responsibility for getting the job done and command of such basic skills as reading, writing and critical thinking. If you've acquired these musts, you have in your hands the requirements for shaping a better world.

To each of you goes my sincerest congratulations and the hope that your own vision for the future comes true and brings you meaning, success and personal happiness.

A Fond Farewell . . .

Dr. Bennett Parsteck, Chairman of the Communication Arts Department has retired this year. With a Master's degree in English, and a Doctorate in Communications, Dr. Parsteck joined the Bowne faculty back in 1965. It was he who started and developed the Communication Arts Department, making it into the respected department that it is today.

Over the years, Dr. Parsteck has served as acting principal of John Bowne, as well as having held the position of administrative assistant. Happily married, with two children and one grandchild, Dr. Parsteck enjoys the theatre, music, mystery novels, swimming, and the N.Y. Islanders. He has recently bought a house in the Catskills, and plans to do some hiking and swimming upstate. He and his wife also plan to travel around the world.

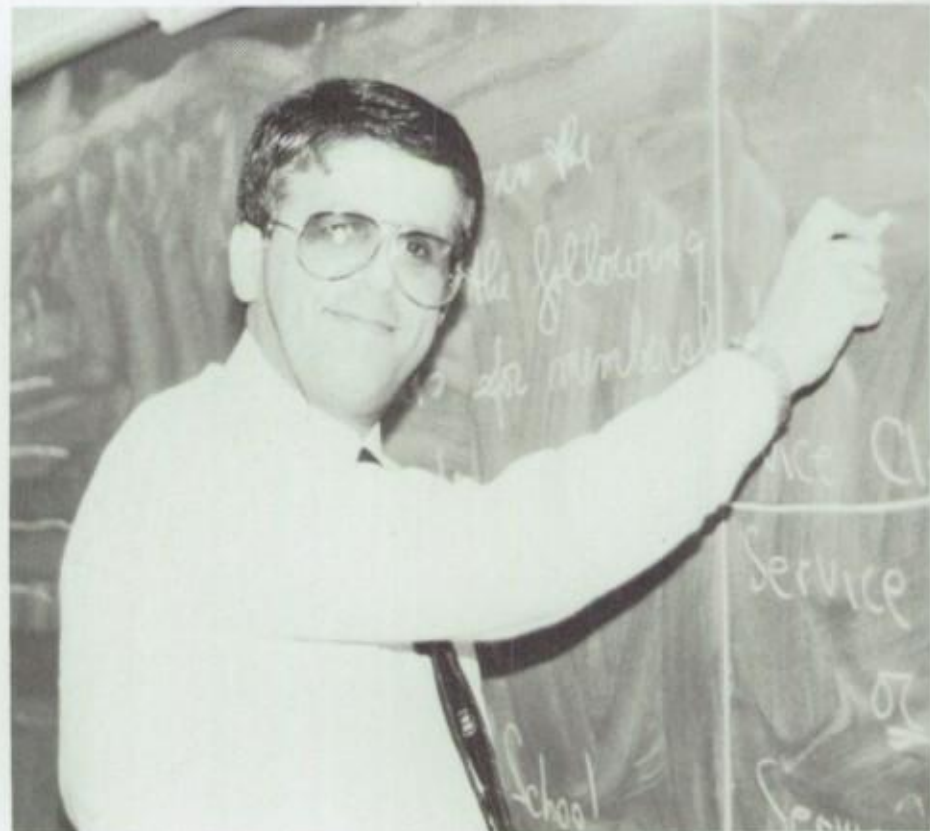

Dr. Parsteck is one of the fathers of John Bowne. He has won the love and respect of many of his colleagues over the years. His warm, caring character as well as his never-fading smile will not be forgotten. We all wish him happiness as he leaves us. We shall miss him.

. . . A Warm Welcome

We Plumbed The Depths

For the OPUS '86 staff, our last year at Bowne has been a memorable experience. Working together to create our yearbook in our modest office on the second floor (yes folks, a girls' toilet) has been a pleasurable and amusing experience. On our own, without a salary, a union or insurance benefits, we have striven to present you, the class of 1986, with a yearbook you will always treasure.

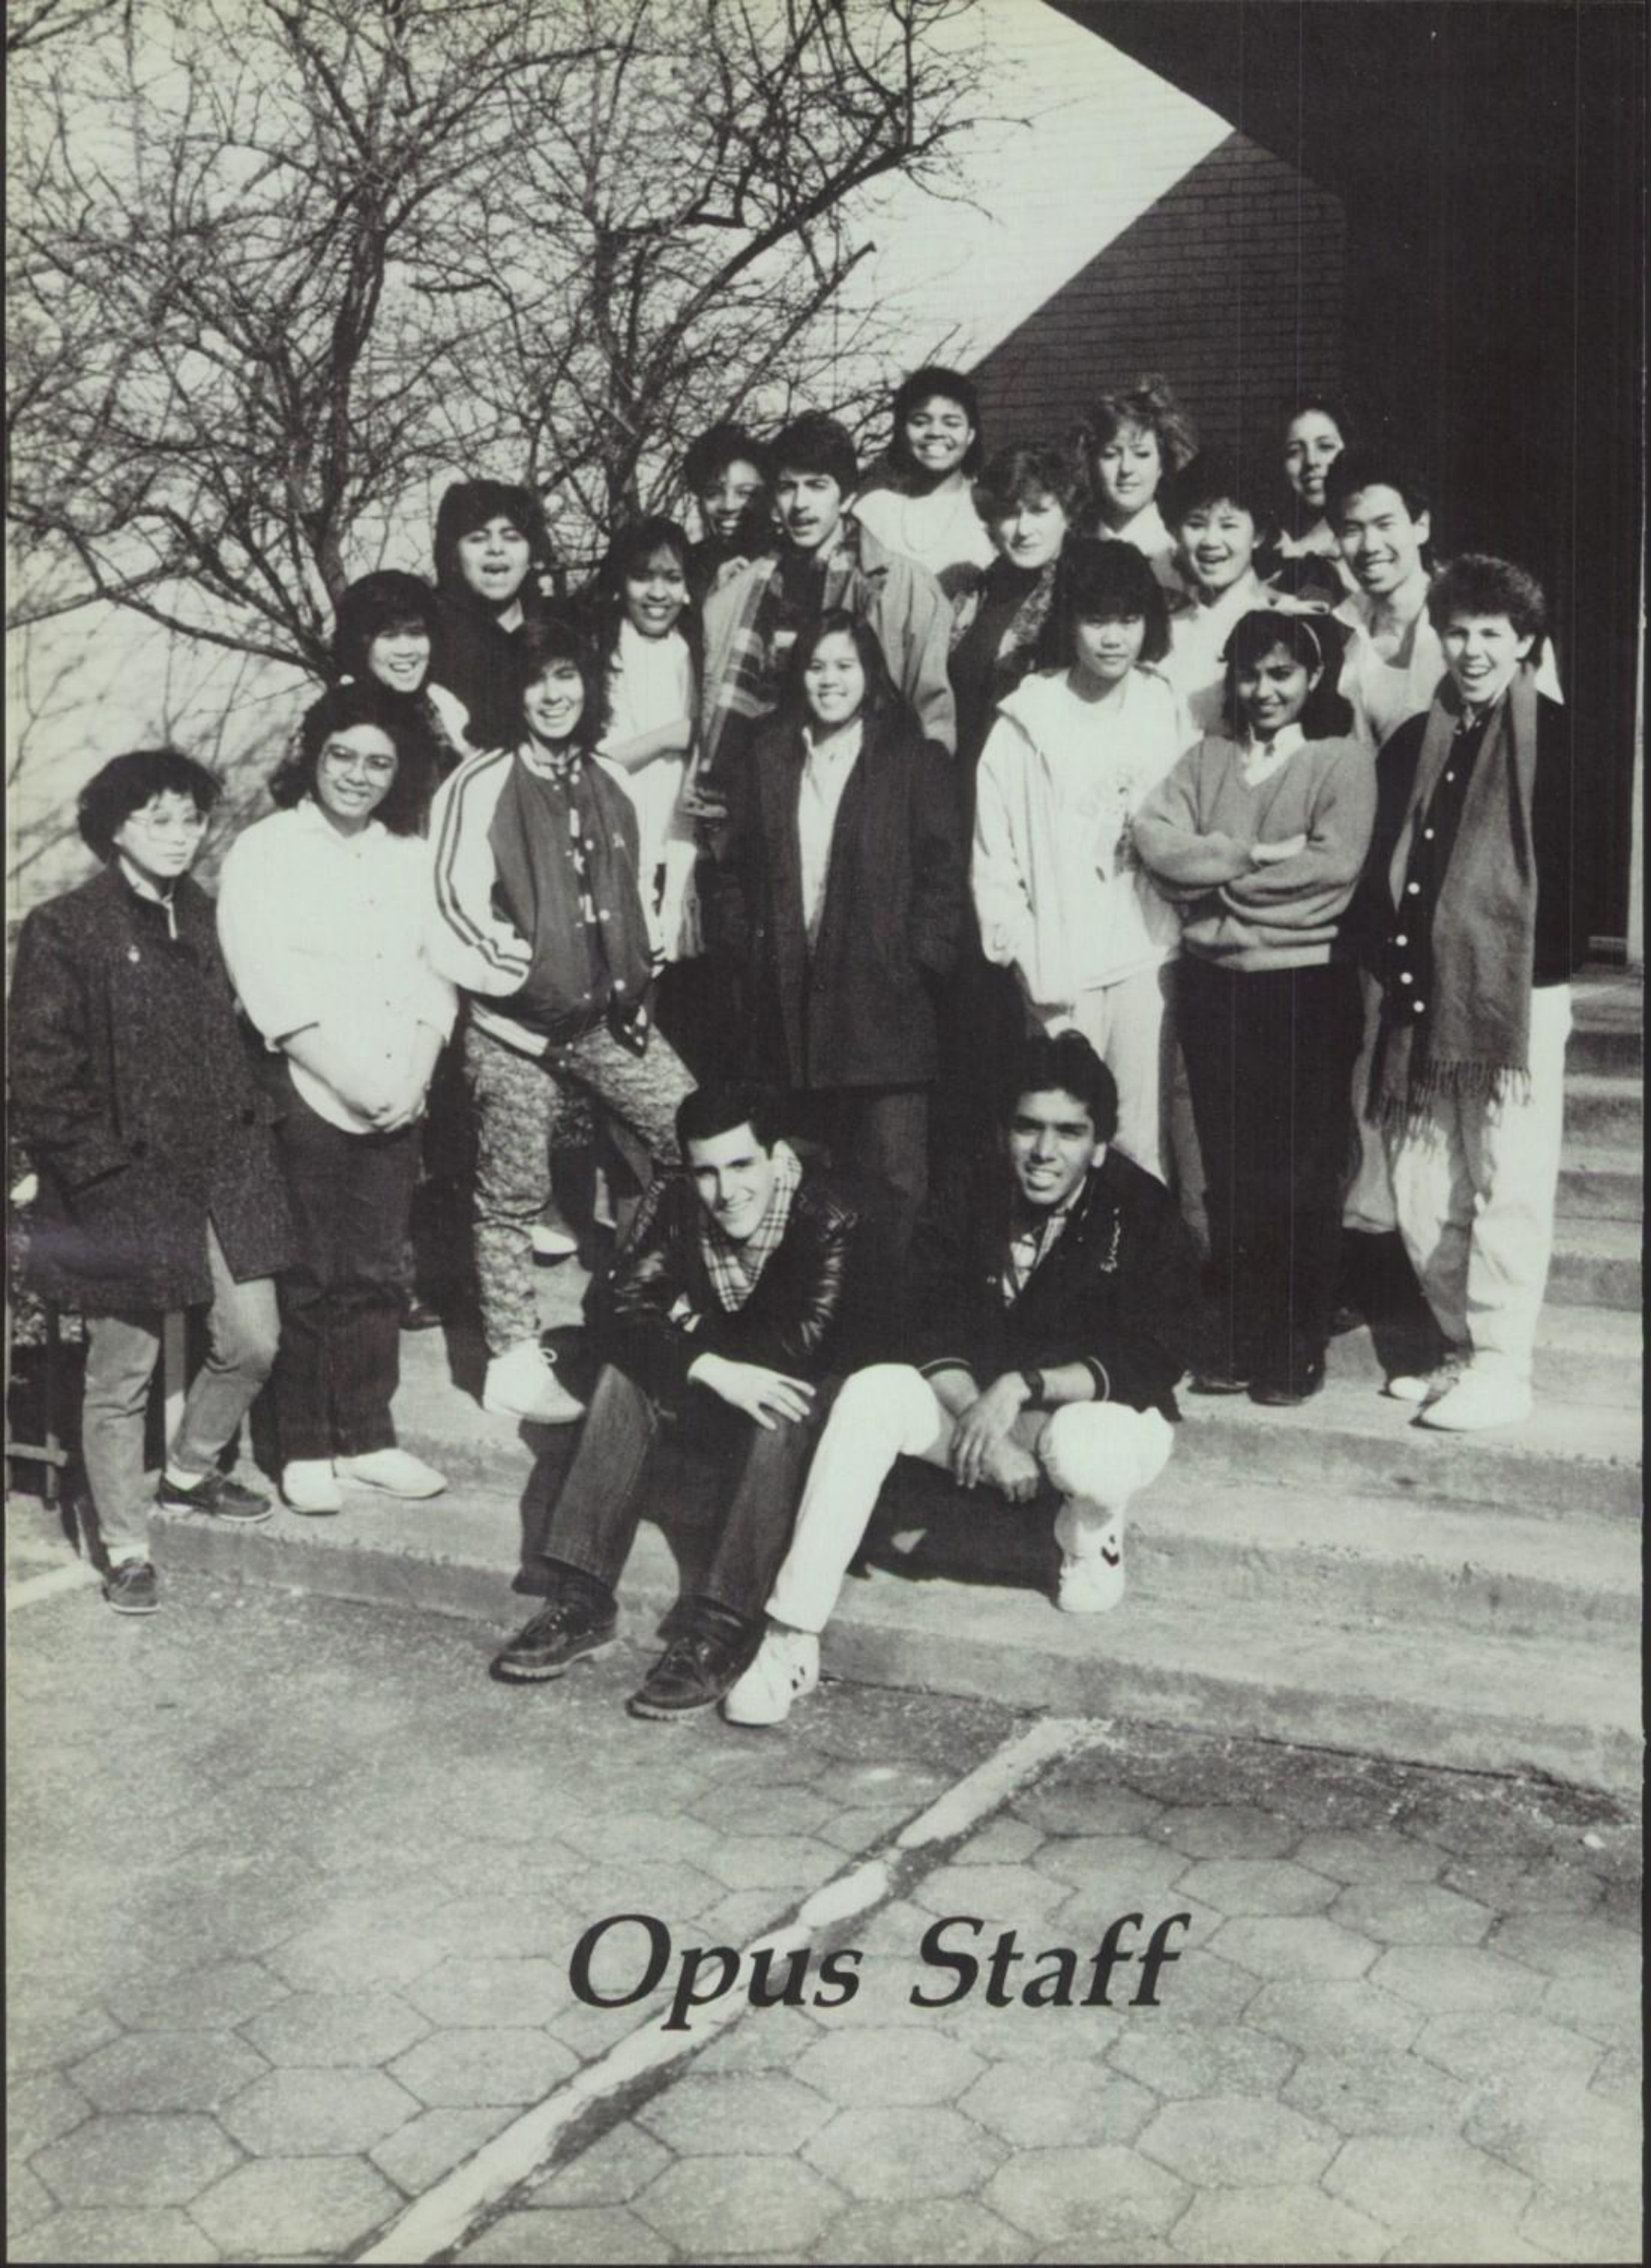

A special thank you to artist Elaine Chune!

Student Union

Ideas and spirit must be generated from somewhere. The main source of power at John Bowne has been the Student Union.

The Student Union, better known as the S.U., organizes events that will break a monotonous routine, involve the student body and staff in an enjoyable activity, lend community service, and at the same time provide funds for the school.

The many events created and sponsored by this organization include the Halloween Dance, Spirit Week, Flower Day, Flower Day Dance and the May Fair. These activities and many others prove that a school is not just made up of books and classrooms.

The group's advisor, Elaine Lipitz, along with the S.U. president Singu Srivinas and a complete cabinet of student officers have contributed in various ways to our memories of John Bowne.

Chinese New Year was celebrated in a variety of ways. Our students danced and wore traditional costumes at the Chinese Heritage and Culture Ceremony at the Board of Education. Here at Bowne, Yong Xu displayed martial arts skills.

Young Diplomats Exchange Program

The New York-Tokyo Young Diplomats Exchange is very new to John Bowne High School. Students who study both Japanese Culture for one term and Japanese Language for four terms are eligible to apply as possible candidates. This November, 24 students came to New York for 2 weeks. At that time, they stayed with New York City high school students who are studying Japanese. Our own Cindy Ting and Janet Tsai were hosts. The Japanese students attended school every day and in the evening they went to many exciting events, including the mayor's reception, the chancellor's reception, a dinner given by the Nippon Club, and the Broadway show "42nd Street". Everyone involved in the program went to Washington as tourists. This March, Cindy and Janet will be visiting all their new friends in Japan and will be sightseeing and attending classes in Tokyo for 2 weeks. The faculty advisors for the Exchange Program are Ms. Weiner and Ms. Esterces. They are the planners and escorts for the many exciting and educational activities that delight our Japanese guests and their hosts.

Bowne students play host to young diplomats from Spain. The Exchange Program gave our students the opportunity to discover Spanish culture first-hand.

Shakespeare Live At Bowne

Bindu Ramchandani, Spiro Sinanis, Diane Ramdehall, Danielle Holloman, Mrs. Klein, Natesha McFarlane, Rehea Rivers, Aashish Vaidya, Connie Fingal.

Using the very best of their creative efforts, Bowne's thespians, under the direction and encouragement of Mrs. Joan Klein, competed in a Shakespeare oratory contest. After many weeks of preparation, each participant recited a selection from the Bard. Bindu Ramchandani was chosen by a panel of judges to represent our school in the borough-wide competition.

*Thou knowest the mask of night is on my face;
Else would a maiden blush bepaint my cheek
For that which thou hast heard me speak tonight.
Fain would I dwell on form-fain, fain deny
What I have spoke; but farewell compliment!
Dost thou love me? I know thou wilt say "Ay";
And I will take thy word. Yet, if thou swearst,
Thou mayst prove false. At lovers' perjuries,
They say Jove laughs. O gentle Romeo,
If thou dost love, pronounce it faithfully.
O if thou thinkst I am too quickly won,
I'll frown, and be perverse, and say thee nay,
So thou wilt woo; but else, not for the world.
In truth, fair Montague, I am too fond,
And therefore thou mayst think my 'havior light;
But trust me, gentleman, I'll prove more true
Than those that have more cunning to be strange.*

Bowne's Olympic Hopeful

Kevin Kelly, a senior at John Bowne High School, has spent a good deal of this year traveling to various parts of the world in order to box. He first became interested in boxing because he wanted to strive for an achievement out of the ordinary. Kevin's friend had several trophies, helping to inspire him to reach his goal.

Kevin thinks people give boxing a bad image. He feels the sport is a science, entailing great concentration and controlled movement. Kevin was informed by the police that his punch has twice the power of an ordinary person's punch. Therefore, he has learned to back away from a fight. He punches with both hands, confusing his opponents, and making him that much more dangerous.

Kevin's past competitions include the Nationals, Regionals, Golden Gloves, Eastern Trials and Junior World. He currently ranks number one in the state and number three in the country. He is eligible for Olympic trials and is presently going for his world ranking.

Amateur boxing is better than professional boxing, in Kevin's opinion. He feels the treatment and privileges are better in the amateurs. "There is more protection and my payment is in clothes," he reflected. His sponsors include Adidas, PAL and United Air Lines.

Bowne's champion wants to attend New York Technical College and learn mechanics. He is currently building a car with his class, which will eventually be raffled for the school's benefit. Education is important to both Kevin and his coach. He must maintain at least an eighty average in all his classes in order to continue boxing.

Kevin has a tutor to assist in his studies while he is traveling. His grades have significantly influenced his boxing career, for Kevin's father will not allow him to continue to box if he does not maintain a good average in school. Kevin has been an inspiration to both family and friends. His mother is his biggest fan and keeps scrapbooks and videotapes of all his matches.

Kevin's present schedule is the USA Boxing Team Tour. He will be involved in tough competition with the best in all of Europe. His tour will take him to Sweden, Denmark and Norway. When he returns to the United States, Kevin would like to become number one!

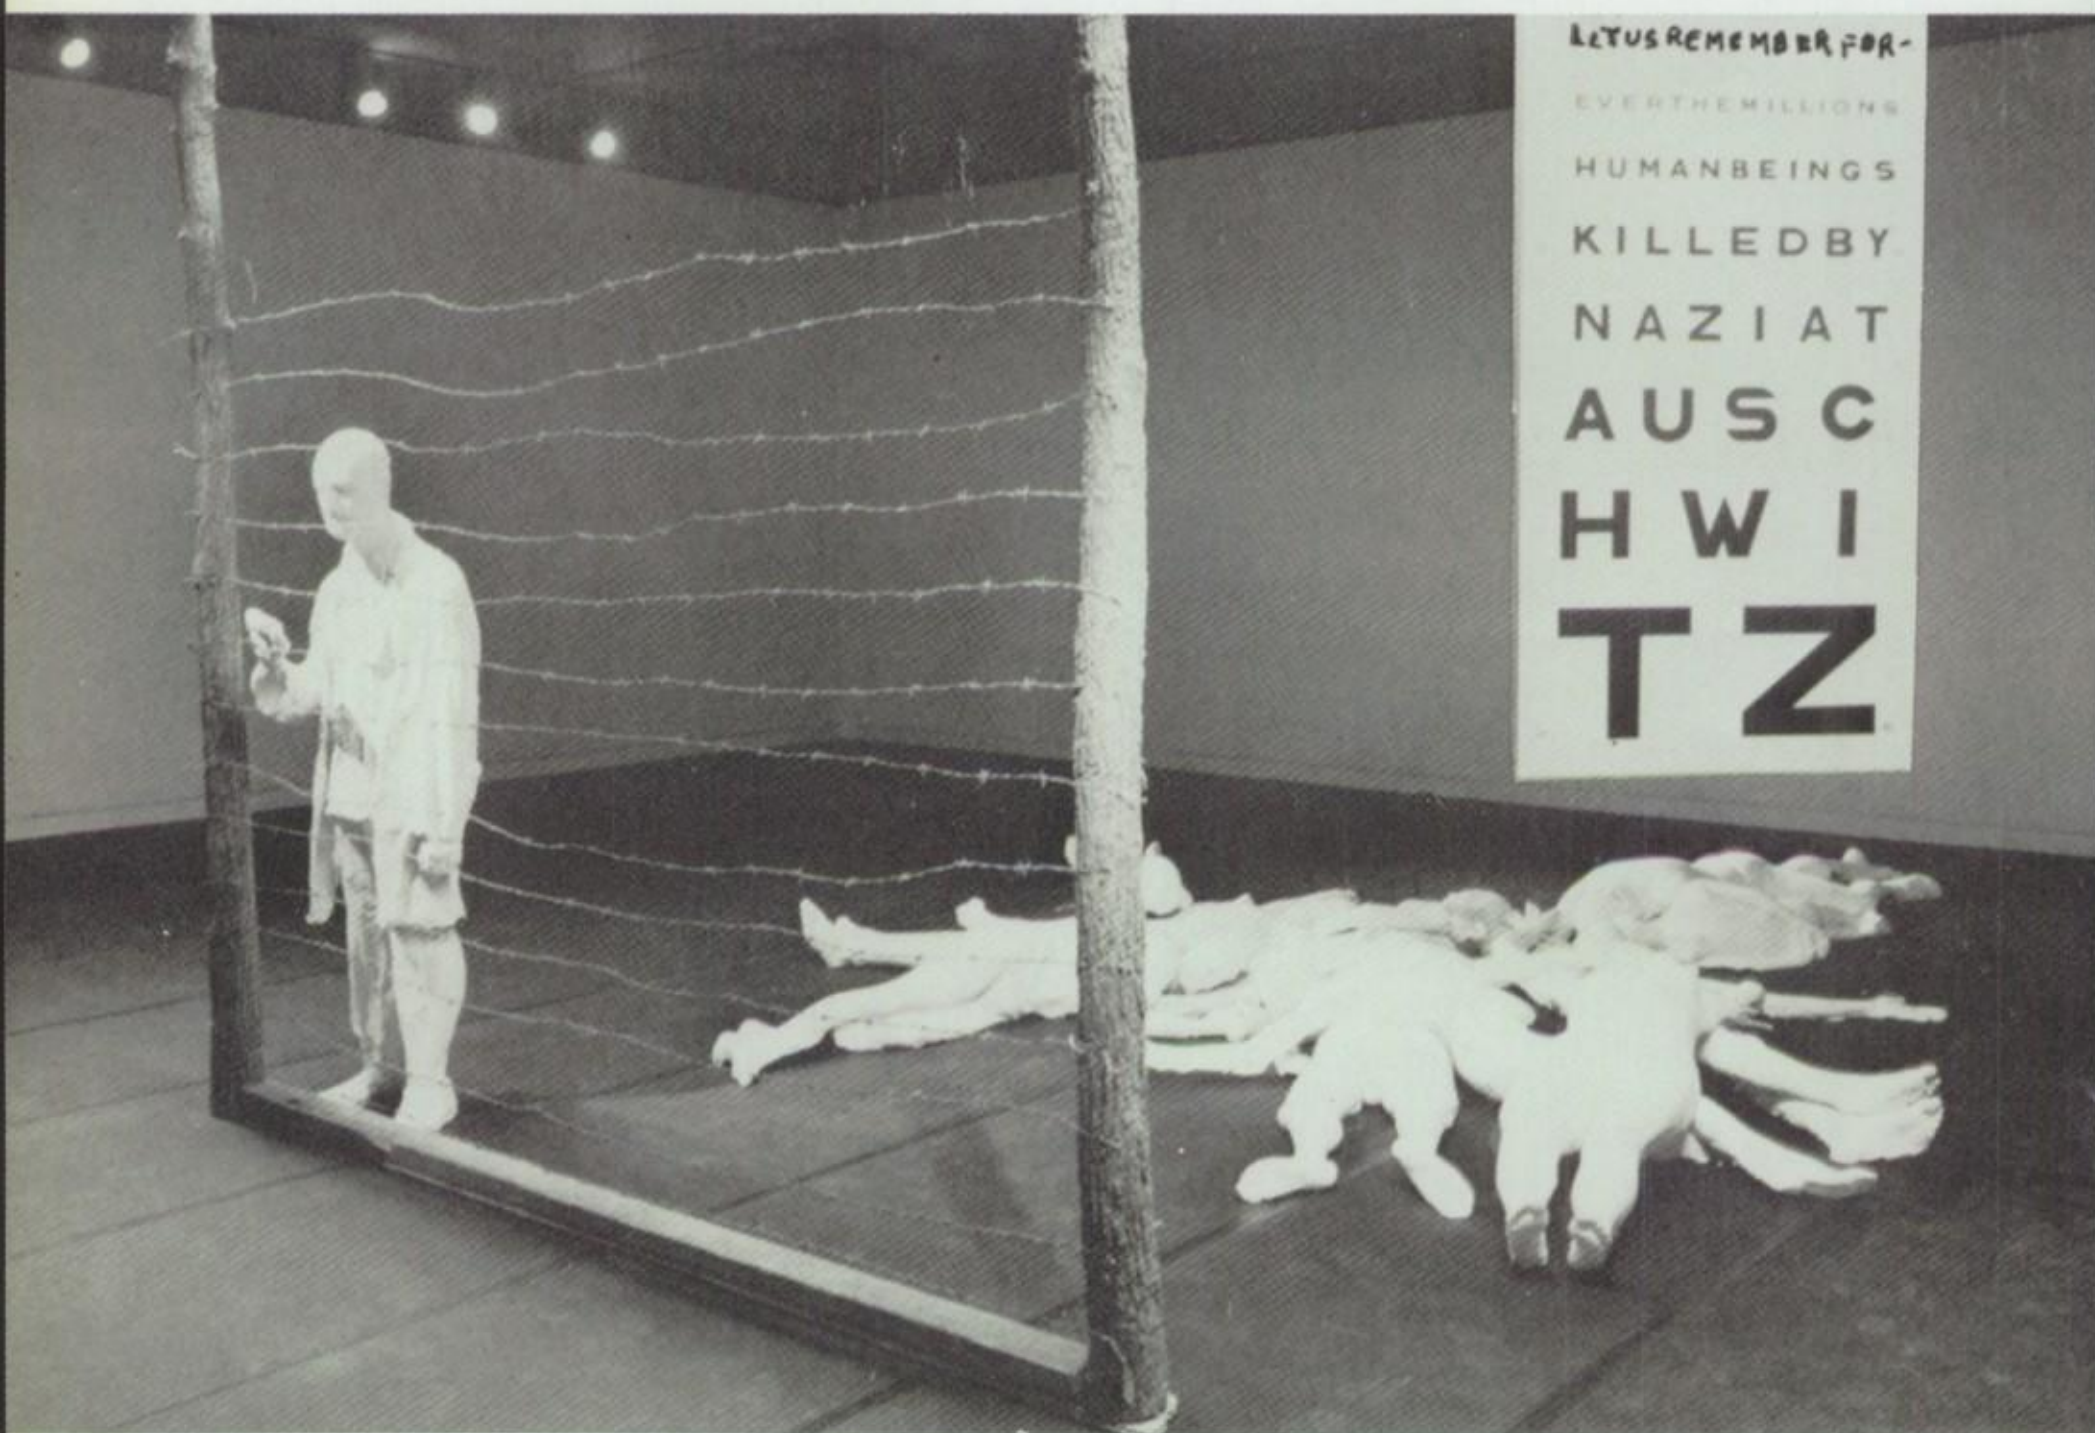

Literature Of The Holocaust

As high school students, we are constantly beset by moral dilemmas. The Holocaust serves as an explosive symbol of the choices that await us. We must explore questions relating to the nature of humanity, the psychology of violence, of duty, of mass control, and the painful problem of responsibility. Through this course we become witnesses to the witnesses and so perpetuate the memory of the Holocaust, lest it happen again.

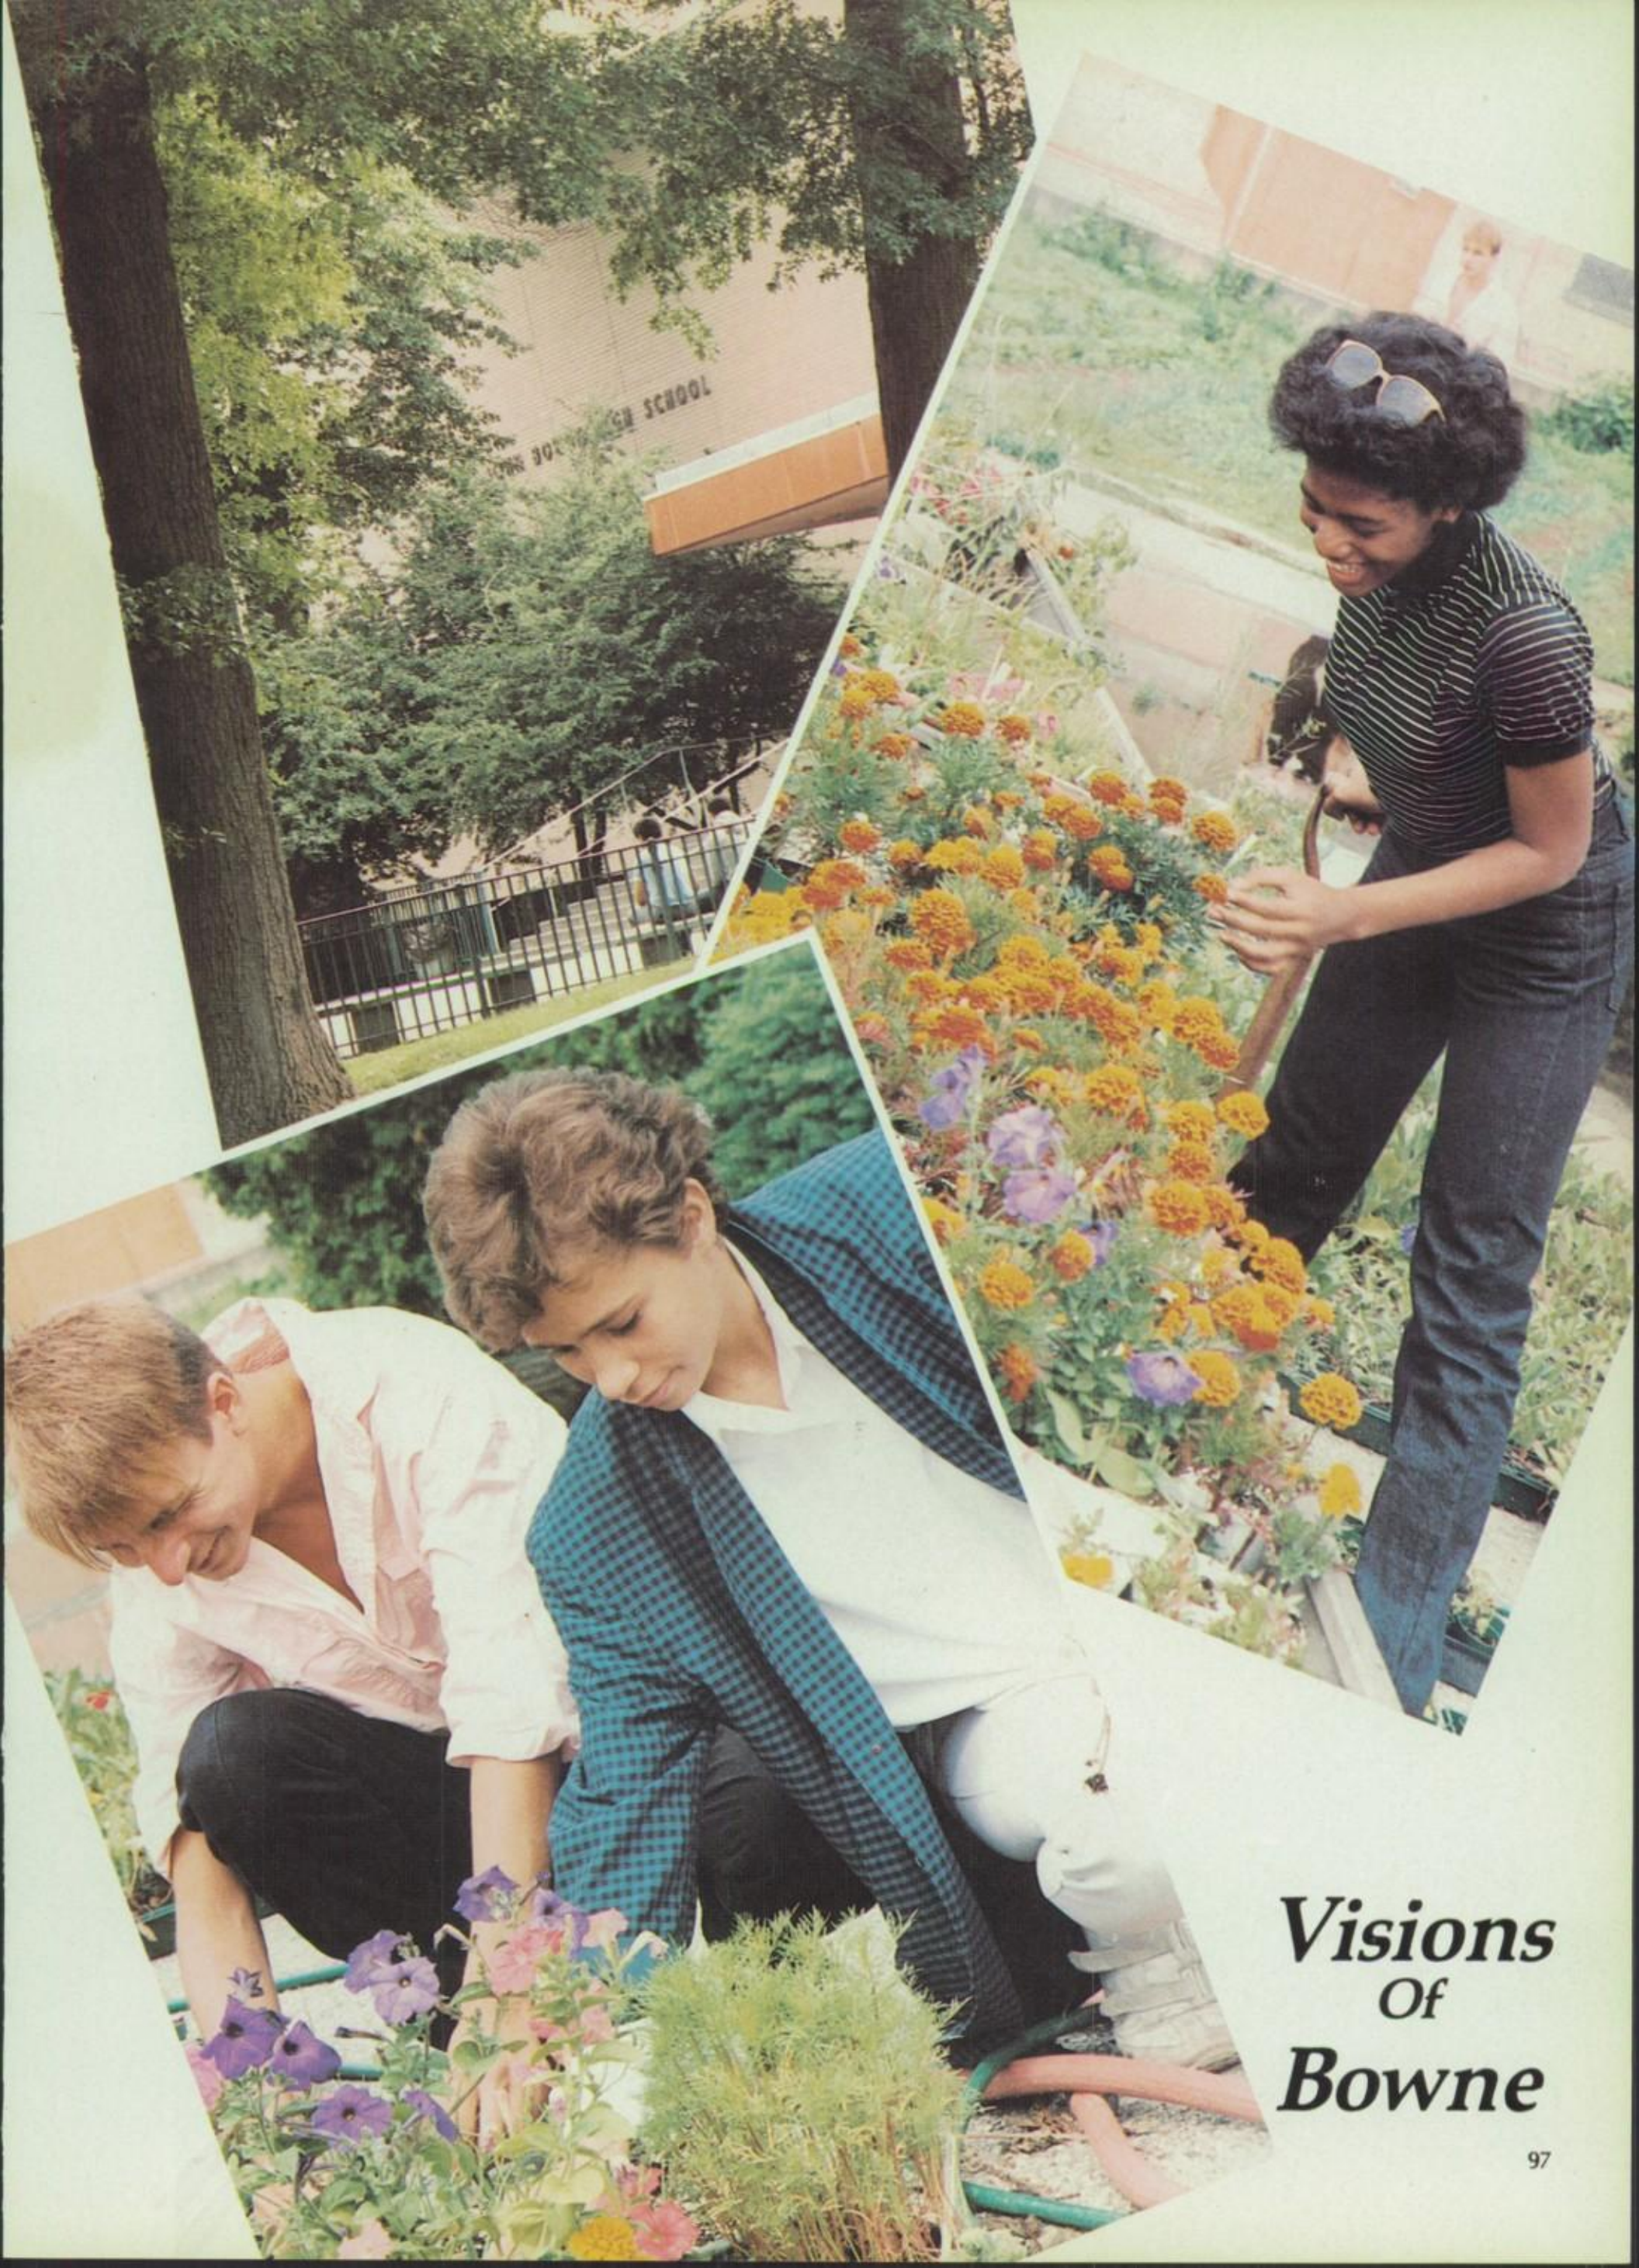

"My request is: Help your students become human. Your efforts must never produce learned monsters, skilled psychopaths, educated Eichmanns.

Reading, writing and arithmetic are important only if they serve to make our children more humane."

And The Ugly*

The Comet Named Halley

The graduating class of 1986 has had the unique opportunity to be recorded along with Halley's Comet in the pages of history.

One night, in the month of November, 1985, several astronomers tracked the approaching comet at Kitt Peak National Observatory near Tucson. The astronomers wanted to see the cosmic celebrity with their own eyes. Suddenly, somebody cried, "I've found it!" And there it was! The sight was decidedly unspectacular because it was still too far from the sun to sport a visible trail; it was 58 million miles away from earth. The comet looked like little more than a smudged and dusty finger print, and for the skywatchers this appearance was a once-in-a-lifetime event.

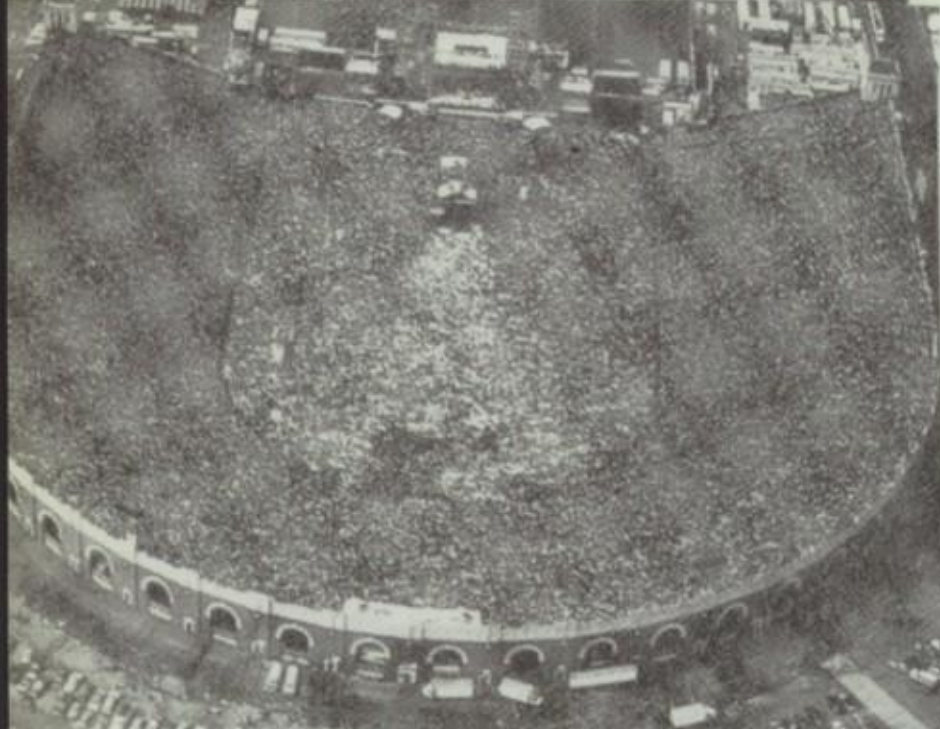

It's been called a "quaint dirty snowball" floating through space. It makes an appearance only every 76 years and for centuries, cultures across the globe have been intrigued by the comet called Halley.

The English astronomer Edmund Halley was the first one to observe the comet in 1682 and predicted its appearance every 76 years. Thanks to his work, we know that comet Halley orbits the sun in a long elliptical path, moving in a direction opposite to that of the planets. It disappears at the far edges of the solar system, only to reappear regularly and pass the earth as it comes back around toward the sun. The comet can tell us a great deal about the solar system and the universe at large.

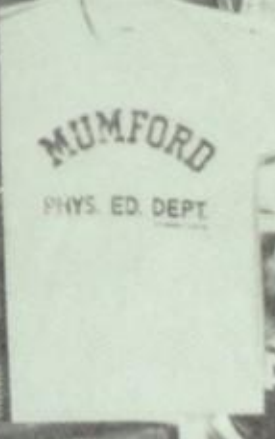

Astronomers and scientists are eager to know what comets are made of as that information can reveal the conditions that existed at the birth of the sun and the 9 planets some 4.5 billion years ago.

The arrival of Halley's comet is not just an astronomical event, it's a cultural event that links generations.

Senior Year

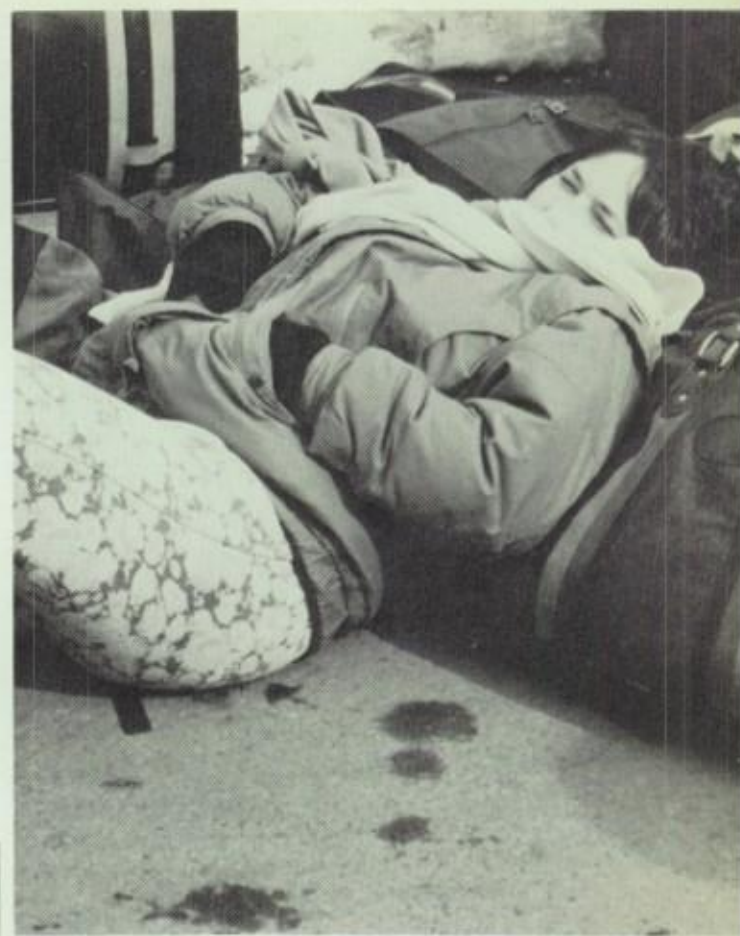

Until we went on senior weekend, we thought the earth had only one moon!

The wild party was in Mr. Samel's room. See photo below.

F a s h i o n S h o w

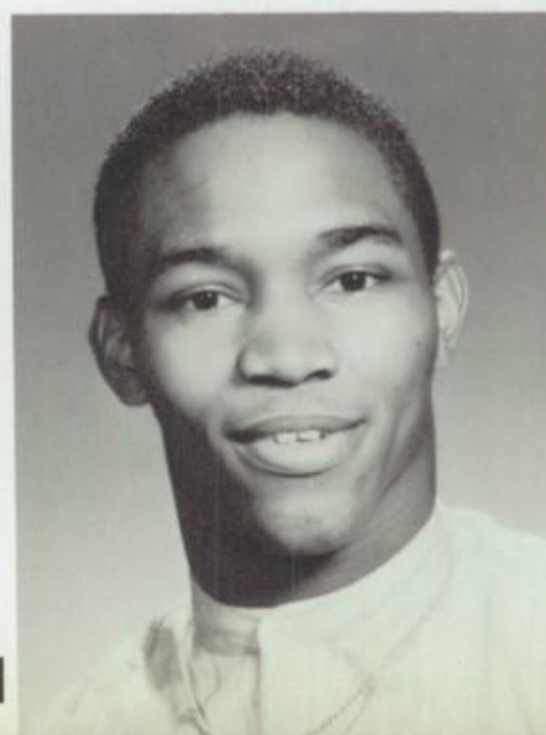

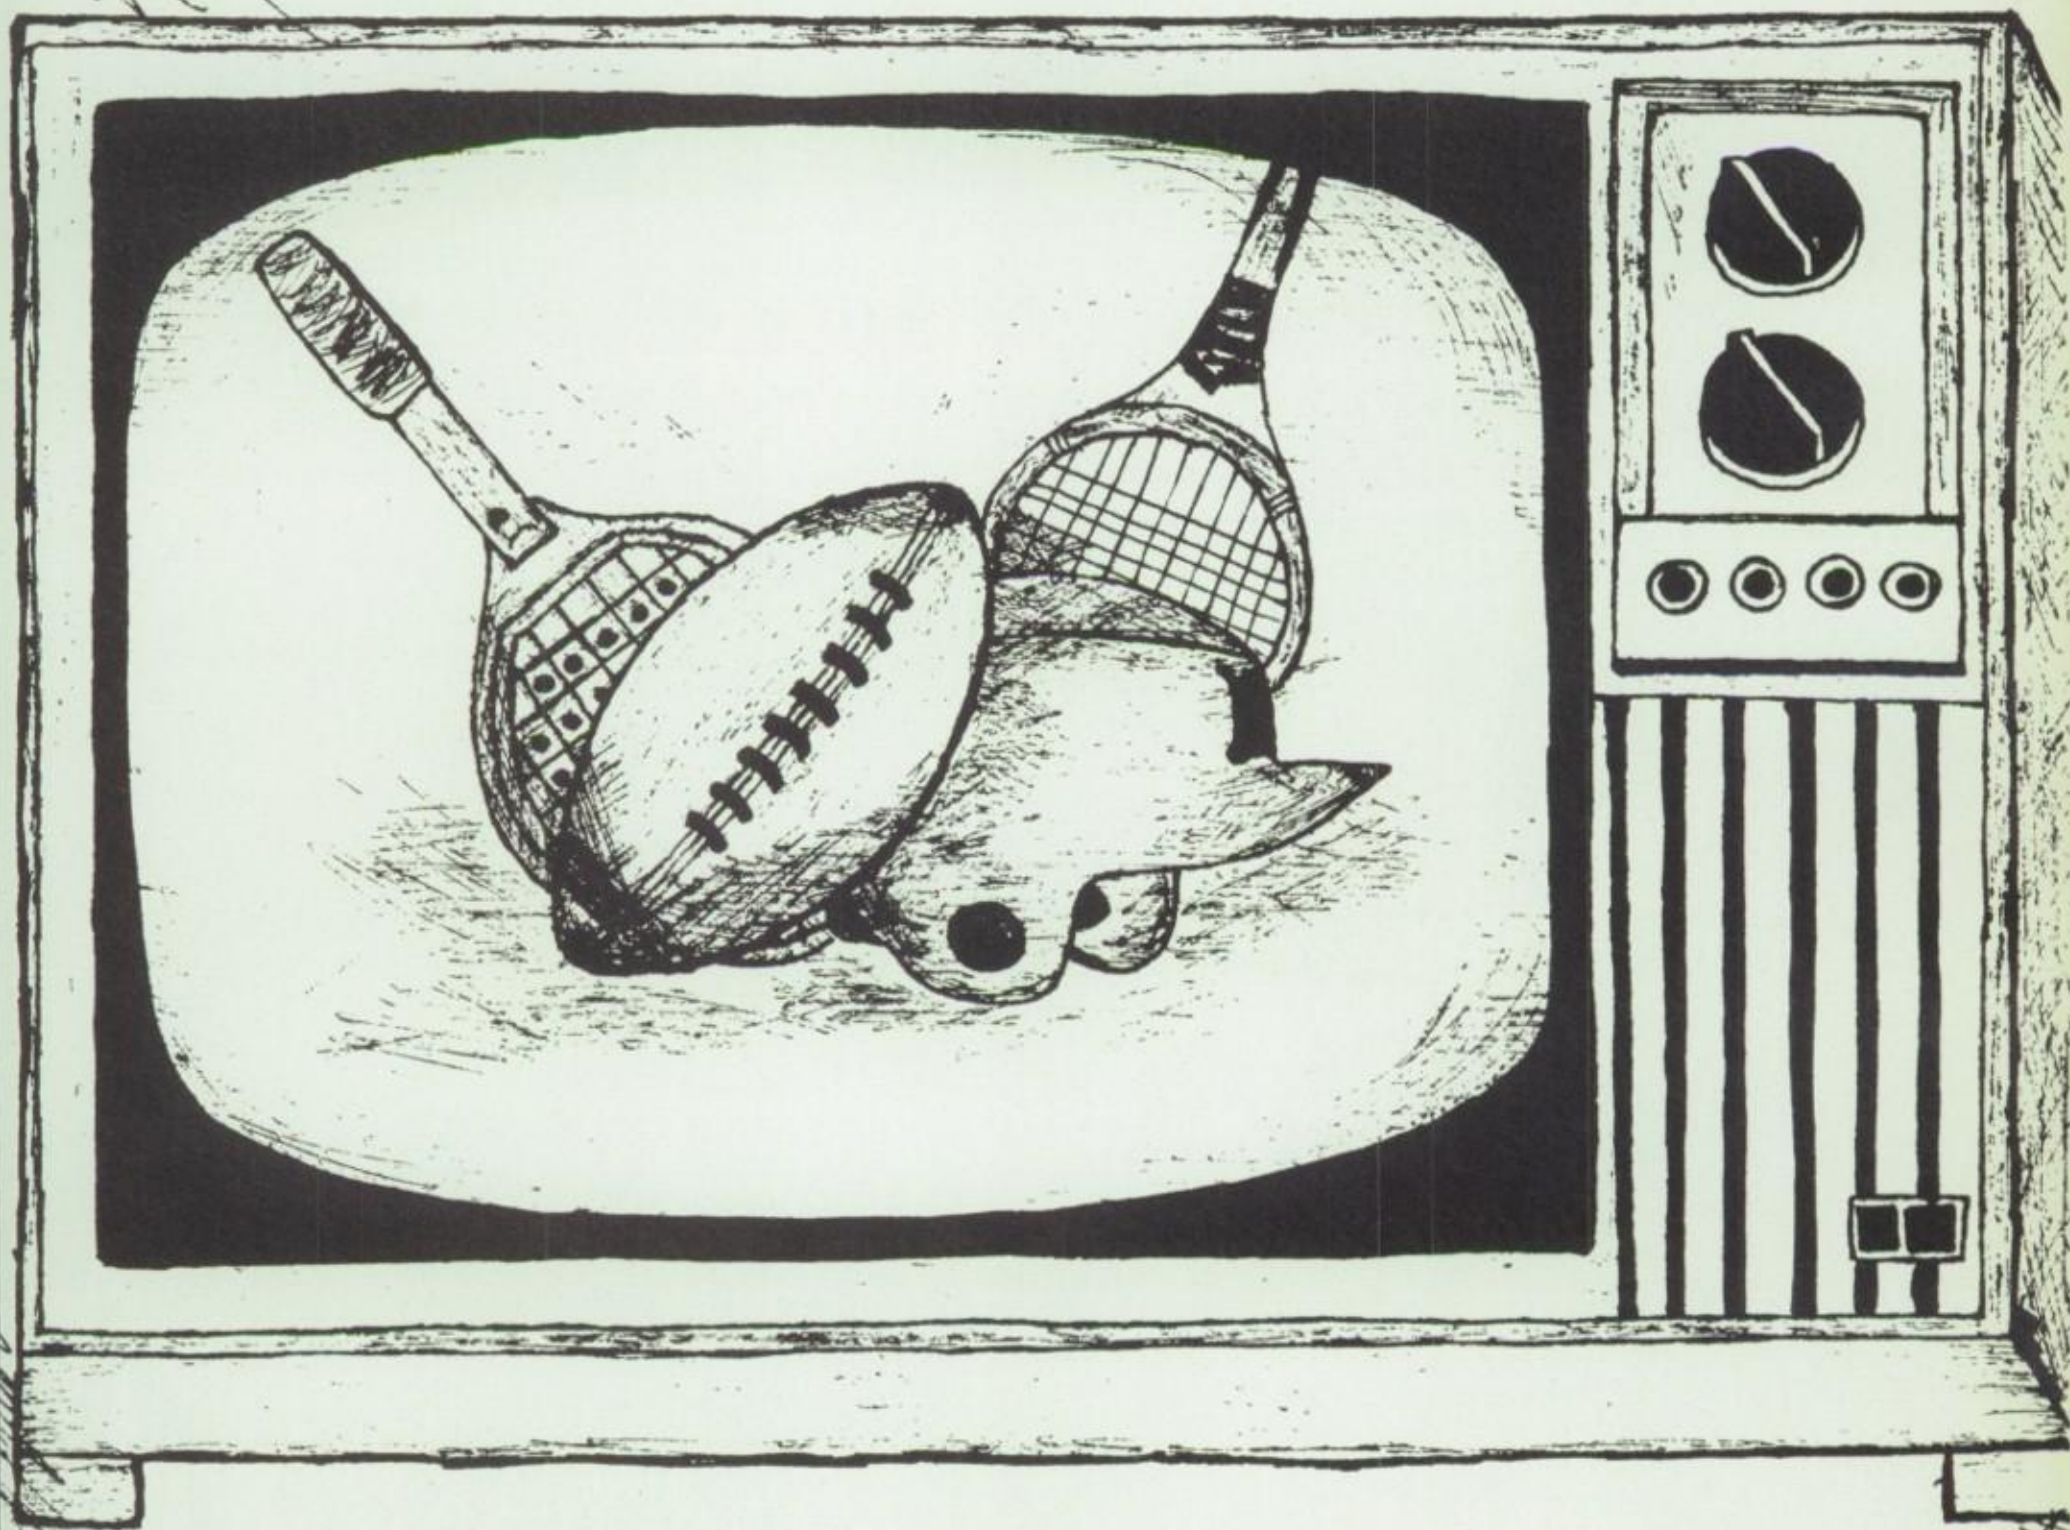

Sounds of joy ended abruptly on January 28, 1986 when the space shuttle Challenger exploded moments after launch. Live television coverage brought the horrifying scene into our homes, stunning us when we were at our most comfortable. We were there, feeling the agony of the moment.

As students, we were especially touched by the tragic outcome of this mission because, along with the six crew members, was Christa McAuliffe, a teacher and the first "ordinary" American to attempt the journey. Mrs. McAuliffe, Michael Smith, Judith Resnick, Ronald McNair, Ellison Onizuka, Gregory Jarvis and Francis Scobee went on this expedition-like the explorers whose lives and exploits we study in our history texts-to enrich our knowledge of the universe. Now they are gone, but all of us have one thing in common: the memory of these seven heroic people will live in our hearts forever.

We Mourned And We Will Remember

A deep sadness moved our graduating class when we lost Dwayne Gilliard. His friend Gillian Crosby remembers Dwayne as "a good person to talk to who was always there when you needed help. He was sweet and kind." Dwayne was an achiever and had formulated his plans and goals. Gillian says that he was not the kind of person to dwell on the past; he looked to the future. We miss him.

We finally had our chance to get even with our teachers. Through teamwork and extraordinary effort we CREAMED 'em!

Despite their feeble attempts, they made the game "interesting." We really can't praise their tactics (they didn't have any), but we thank them for being such good sports and we appreciate their participation.

Dear teachers, you guys were good, but we were better, MUCH BETTER!!!
